Title:

A Study of Government Welfare Schemes at the Village Level: An Assessment of Orunodoi, Mukhya Mantri Anna Suraksha Yojana (MMASY), Antyodaya Anna Yojana (AAY), and Sukanya Samriddhi Yojana

Objectives of the Project

The project aims to examine the implementation, accessibility, awareness, and impact of selected government welfare schemes at the village level. Students are expected to understand how these schemes reach their intended beneficiaries and identify the challenges faced during implementation.

Rules and Regulations

- ✓ Each group shall work collectively and submit one project report and one presentation.
- ✓ Every group may select a village of its own convenience. The selected village must be clearly mentioned in the project report and presentation.
- ✓ Students should collect relevant information through field visits, interactions with beneficiaries, interviews with local representatives, and discussions with concerned officials, wherever possible.
- ✓ Students must obtain consent before interviewing respondents. Personal and sensitive information must be kept confidential. Students must not collect bank account details, passwords, or other unnecessary personal information.
- ✓ The project report must be limited to 10 pages, subject to the instructor's directions.
- ✓ Each group must prepare and deliver one presentation covering the findings of its field study. All group members should participate in the preparation and presentation.
- ✓ The final project report and presentation must be submitted on or before 11 November 2026
- ✓ The project will carry a total of 15 marks, including the viva voce. Marks may be awarded based on fieldwork, quality of analysis, presentation, participation, and responses during the viva.
